FOREWORD

By Beverlee

Welcome to the exhilarating world of Vedic Astrology -- a tried and true system of knowledge for understanding your place in the “scheme of things”! I think you’ll find your Vedic Horoscope Analysis extremely stimulating and informative. It should feel like “seeing” yourself through a new “lens” -- perhaps for the first time.

I’m fortunate to be able to provide this astrological perspective through the efforts of Das Goravani, author of the Vedic Astrology computer program “Goravani Jyotish”. As you read his introduction and explanation of “Jyotish” following this foreword, I think you’ll understand why I chose Das’s program from among those on the market. He has clearly created it with love and reverence for the divine -- a love and reverence which I share.

Granted, some of the verses drawn from ancient texts are archaic, (but interesting!). Please note that some of the language sounds “dire” or at the least, very dramatic! I think you have to temper these ancient texts with your own awareness. Also, any astrology reading has what appear to be contradictions or inconsistencies. That’s because there are different aspects in our charts, which mirror the different parts of our psychological makeup which are not always consistent, either. We’re a myriad of potentialities, when you get right down to it!

Blessed be,

Beverlee

INTRODUCTION

By Das Goravani

Vedic Astrology is called “Jyotish” which is a Sanskrit word. “Jyoti” means “light” and “Ish” is short for “Ishwar”, which means “God”. So “Jyoti-Ishwar” or the “Light of God” is pronounced “Jyotish” (ja-yo-teesh).

Using “Jyotish”, or Vedic Astrology, means to recognize that God does His or Her work of controlling the upbringing of all the children of the Universe through a complex interactive system of energy rays, or “light”. The focal points of this energy are the spheres we know as planets, which the Vedic Books of Knowledge teach us are actually personal “Demi-Gods”. It is through these focal points, in their ever-changing dance around our solar system, that we can read the unfoldment of the plan of God for us. What is planned for us as individuals is frozen in time and in our birthchart, which are simply maps of the heavenly bodies at the moment of our birth in relation to our place of birth.

The Sages of ancient India, receiving this science from God, passed it down through generations of their disciples. Eventually, around 5,000 years ago, they began to put their science into written form and it has been recorded and passed on that way ever since. Now, in modern times, we have the advantage of the accuracy of astronomy and computers. I have written a very astronomically precise chart-calculating software program. Into the program I have entered many readings from classic and modern astrological scholars describing the “meanings” of the planetary positions in the birthchart. In your hands you now hold your readings--each of the specific placements of the planets in your birthchart.

As you examine the readings given for your birthchart, remember that they are unblended, and therefore may cancel each other out to some degree, and also balance each other out. For example, one paragraph may say that you have a strong positive quality, while another paragraph may assert that you have the strong opposite negative quality. Which is right? The truth lies in the middle; at some point in your life you will no doubt experience one quality, and at other times you experience the other. There will be a blending of the two opposite energies throughout your life.

One of the most important facets of Vedic Astrology is what we call the Planetary Periods. These are essentially a dateline of when the planets will give their effects in your life. It is primarily through using the planetary periods that the Vedic Astrologer is able to predict when things are going to happen. The chart shows all the probabilities contained in your life span, but the Planetary Periods show us when each element is likely to happen.

Your Planetary Periods are also contained in this reading. You can use this information by observing the effects your planets have created in the past. Then you can comprehend what the planets will try to accomplish during their periods projected in your future Planetary Periods.

There is a certain beauty in knowing that Divine Order has a plan for us, don't you agree? We can, after surrendering to this fact, go through life, with all its ups and downs, in a happy state of mind which the Hindus call detachment. What happens, in the end, is not entirely up to us. We are players in an already written play, and we generally don't know the script, but there is one, and it comes from a purely benevolent Divine Order. Our dreams, hopes and wishes are generally self-centered and based on a vision of ourselves as these bodies we temporarily inhabit. But this is not the vision of Divine Order, which sees us instead as gradually evolving souls learning lessons in each life, which are retained, though the material attainments of each life are not. The purpose of life is not necessarily to be happy! It is to learn our lessons well, and those, the Vedas say, are carried forward to our next destinations. Therefore, it is important when approaching a comprehension of Vedic astrology, to understand that it is not our servant, but rather, we are its servants.

I hope I've helped you understand how to begin analyzing your chart more fully because it's my personal goal to spread these basic principles to as many people as possible. I truly believe the end result will be an expansion of the overall enlightened state of society. The more we all believe that the benevolent hand of Divine Order is guiding our lives, the more we will be able to surrender to that Divine Plan, which leads us, as individuals, to ever-higher states of Grace and Perfection. Then, in the collective, we all go upwards together.

Peace and love,

Das Goravani

Vedic Chart Analysis for Susan Boyle

1. General results of being born in Hasta Nakshatra: 1. Physical features: You will be tall and of large stature, you may have mixed color with short hands in comparison to your body structure. There may be a scar or mark on the upper right hand or beneath the shoulder.
2. Character and general events: You will have a calm nature. There will be a peculiarity when you smile, in other words your sweet smile has the magnetic power to attract others. This inherent quality produces a vibration on others and it becomes difficult to leave you once such acquaintance takes place. You can easily get respect and honor from the public. You are always in readiness to help the needy for nothing in return. You do not like to deceive others even if it may cost you your life. In spite of this good quality, the reward you may get in return is nothing but criticism and opposition. You do not believe in a posh living. At one moment you may rise to the top and another moment you may fall to the bottom, whether in the professional field or mentally. Hence you cannot be categorized as permanently poor or wealthy. When you enter in a particular field and start gaining the object, reversal is already in store for you. While you try to get out of such reversal through your own effort, help comes from unexpected quarters and you achieve moderate success in the undertaking. It may appear that there is some hidden curse. The sincerity and hard work which you show in work should give you a wonderful boost. Although you do not desire to cause any trouble to others, once you are hurt, you may be in search of revenge. At the same time you take consolation in the feats of God by thinking "Let god give me this punishment" and you slowly withdraw from the scene of conflict.
3. Education, sources of earning/profession: In the work field, you keep strict discipline. Normally employment in a subordinate level is not fit for you. You are most likely to be engaged in business or in a high position in industry. You will possess excellent all around knowledge. You will show to the world that you are not behind anybody on any matter. You are a good adviser as you have the capacity to intervene and settle various disputed matters. Many responsibilities will have to be undertaken by you before you can climb the ladder of success. Period up to your 30th year of age will bring in unexpected circumstantial changes both in the family front as well as in the academic and professional or business field. Period between 30 to 42 years of age will be your golden period, when you can settle down in your life. There will be remarkable accumulation of wealth and all around success in the business field in your later years.
4. Family life: You are able to enjoy a peaceful life, even though occasional friction as is expected in a family will definitely be there.

4. Family life: You may marry at a late stage. However, you cannot enjoy full requisite love and affection either from husband or husband's family. Your married life may be full of thorns. Even children cannot give you the required happiness.
